Registration System

The following information regarding registration should be carefully read by all, not alone in reference to the Prohibition Referendum but also a preparation for the next Dominion elections. See that your name appears on these lists.

In Rural districts there will be one registrar for each polling division who must be a resident there unless a competent person cannot there be found.

A Rural Registrar is not required to prepare his list until the latter part of September but he must complete it by October 6th.

By October 10th he must post up two copies of his list alphabetically prepared, in two of the most conspicuous places of his polling division.

With these two copies he shall post up notice of the place where he will be available for revising this list. The dates when he will so sit are from October 12th to 16th inclusive and hours from 2 to 6 p.m. each day.

If the registrar up to October 15th becomes convinced that he has left off the list any name which should appear thereon, he may add such name, but only upon being furnished with proper proofs furnished under oath, by some credible person who is aware of the facts.

In Rural Polling Divisions if the registrar fails to place the name of a qualified elector on the list such elector may apply personally or by any other person with knowledge thereof who is prepared to verify the necessary facts under oath and have his name entered thereon at any time up to but not later than October 16th.

In case of the failure of such registration within that period to add to the voters list the name of such elector said elector may apply at the polls to have his or her name added to the list upon taking an oath of qualification in form No. 38 of schedule One of the Act; provided he or she is vouched for under oath in form No. 24 of schedule One by a resident elector, or whose name is on the voter's list. This is called "wearing in" one's vote.

Any voter who does not understand fully how to mark or deposit the ballot or is in doubt, should request the printed instructions to voters posted in the polling station or ask the Deputy Returning Officer whose duty it is to give all such information.

There will be a sitting of the District Court in Wainwright on Monday October 4th, where any person must apply to a judge for certificate before their names can be placed on the voters list can appear and be examined.

High School Breezes

We have a large playground now as the fences have been extended. New benches have been placed and laid out nearer the school house.

There is lots of room for us to play, so we will get plenty of fresh air.

Eunice Haas is spending a month at Green Meadows, so our basketball team is short of one of its good defenses.

A very interesting game of basketball took place on Friday evening between Single and High School teams. After some strenuous playing the High School won.

The next game will take place on Wednesday evening between the Married and High School teams.

Mr. Laws had his wife pick a rose for him, the other day, as the thorns were so sharp as to prick his fingers.

The next meeting of the Chauvin Women's Institute will meet Wednesday, October 6th at 3 p.m.

Wedding Bells

McNUTT-FAIRCLOUGH

St Johns Church, Saskatoon, so charmingly situated on the banks of the broad Saskatchewan river, was, last Monday morning, the scene of a happy event of great interest to our citizens. We refer to the marriage of Mary Fairclough, of Liverpool, England to George McNutt, of Chauvin, late of Milford, Ireland.

The bride, who has just arrived from the Old Country, was attended by Miss Essie Herron, of Saskatoon, and the groom by C. G. Forryan, of Chauvin. The Rev. Canon Smith officiating at the ceremony, which he completed in a charming manner by solemnly ringing the wedding march on the church chimes, which action he later explained was in honor of the newly arrived bride from the Old Land.

We, in Chauvin are not able to ring the wedding chimes, but we do extend a warm welcome and express our heartfelt congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple.

MACDONALD-HICKS

On August 30th Miss Grace Hicks, of Calgary was united in marriage to Mr. MacDonald, manager of the Merchants Bank, Chauvin.

Owing to the sickness of the sister of the bride the wedding was very quiet.

The ceremony took place at 6.30 p.m. at the home of the bride's mother at Calgary. Rev. W. Smith of Hillhurst Church officiating.

Supper was served at the close of the ceremony, after which the bride and groom were entrained for Banff.

Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald have now returned to Chauvin and are now residing in the rooms over the Merchants Bank.

We are very glad to welcome Mrs. MacDonald amongst us and feel we are expressing the sentiments of the community in extending to Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald our hearty good wishes.

GREGORY-CLIFFORD

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clifford was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Sept. 7th when their eldest daughter Miss Laura was united in matrimony to Lloyd Gregory.

The bride was beautifully gowned in ivory satin and Georgette crepe and was attended by Miss Sadie Burton, while the groom was attended by his brother Mr. Russell Clifford. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents.

After the wedding a bountiful repast was served to which over one hundred sat down and enjoyed the good things provided.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory left on Sunday for their new home in Independence, Mo. accompanied by the good wishes of their many friends.

They will both be missed very much in the church and social life of the district. May good luck attend them.

The 48th anniversary of the Rebekah organization was celebrated by the Laura Secord Lodge, Chauvin, on Sunday last by a special service in Westminster church. Special hymns were selected for the service and a sermon was preached by Rev. W. Millar. A good number of the members were present but owing to the bad season and distance most of our country members were not able to attend.

Wheat Yield Is Heavy

Early reports from the threshers are that there. These place the wheat yield at from 29 to 32 bushels per acre. It would appear likely that the average will run about 25 bushels to the acre.

Winona School Fair

Highly successful in every detail and from every point of view was the fifth annual School Fair held at Winona school on Friday Sept. 10th. The exhibits, greater in number and of higher quality than ever before, far surpassed the highest hopes of the committee in charge of the arrangements. From an early hour the school was a scene of great activity as large numbers of exhibitors hastened to get their exhibits of vegetables, flowers, grain, live-stock, cookery etc. in place before judging and Laundlin of the School of Agriculture, Vermilion, School Inspector Parker, and Miss Morton, these four had a very busy day. The opportunity given by the School Fair for competition, not only in school work, but also in many lines of Agricultural work, is of keen interest to the children; and is without doubt of great educational value. It is, too, the big children's day of the year. Ten Schools participated in it this year, namely Allister, Claire, Crosslynde, Moyerton, Oxville, Park Valley, Sifton Park, Waverly, Winona and Woodford. The Diploma given by the Department of Agriculture to the School winning the highest number of points in all competitions, was won by Crosslynde with a score of 100 points, Winona came second, but only 90 points as an also ran.

Sports were also held in between the other events, a little more study of the need of grading in such contests, would be beneficial.

The great display of vegetables and grains shows again that this district can hold its own with any other in the West. Both dinner and supper were served by 4 competitors. Mr. Bopde, the manager of the Merchants Bank at Edgerton was on hand, and paid all the prize money before the children went home. The thanks of the community is due to the committee, who worked so hard and so faithfully to make it such a success, particularly in a busy season such as this.

The G.W.V.A. Auxiliary will hold their regular meeting next Saturday, September 25th at the G.W.V.A. hall at 8 p.m.

Evening Classes

Some enquiries having been received as to the night classes to be formed in connection with the H.S., the principal was interrogated as to the course of studies to be followed. It appears that the work to be taken up depends solely upon the wishes of the applicants and the ability of the instructors to find the necessary time. First and foremost, a course in reading and writing is suggested, and advanced reading course of one of Shakespeares plays being very enjoyable and instructive. Arithmetic and geometry should appeal to almost everyone as questions of measurement are continually cropping up. If desired other mathematical subjects will be taken up. A series of lectures on physical and political geography will be given in which the cause of day and night, the seasons, tides, etc. will be explained. Canadian, British and general history will be treated as fully as time will permit. One of the most practical courses will be one in practical English in order to give an understanding of ordinary Grammar. Opportunity for the study of French especially the elementary sounds and grammar will be given. Our basic industry, agriculture, will receive due consideration, and if possible, lecturers from outside points will be obtained to give new ideas on the subject. With the consent of Mr. Polkins a few lectures on hygiene will be supplied. The subjects of Botany and Botany will be touched upon incidentally. If desired a very interesting course in physical science and chemistry could be given. Other subjects as book-keeping and shorthand may be given if a sufficiently large number apply.

The course in English, French, etc. that may be given although the courses given will depend upon the number enrolling. A five months' course of three nights a week will be the limit of the instruction given. Anyone wishing to get further particulars should apply either to the Secretary Mr. T. H. Saul or the principal Mr. Laws.

Liquor Co. Appeal

Another assault upon the liquor act when an appeal against a conviction registered under the provisions of the act in the provincial police court before Magistrate McLeod will be carried to the Appellate division of the Supreme Court of Alberta, the highest court in the province.

H. A. Friedman and C. C. McCall T.C., acting for the appellant, George W. Bulmer, of Chauvin, Alberta, announced that the case would be fought to the limit, Bulmer, who is it stated is agent of the Lee Wine & Spirit company, of Saskatoon, in charge of the Chauvin branch, was fined $100 and costs for being illegally in possession of liquor in a place other than a private dwelling house.

Meanwhile, pending the result of the appeal, the export liquor warehouse at Chauvin is shut down tight with the keys of the building remaining in the pocket of Inspector Hodgkins, head of the provincial liquor squad.

"It is just a question of whether the Hon. J. H. Boyle is to be regarded as a czar of Alberta or merely attorney-general," declared one of the solicitors in discussing the case. "The appeal will decide whether he has the right to arrogate to himself the power to decide who shall and who shall not carry on the business of exporting from the province."

It is the contention of the appellant that the attorney general may be within his rights and within the act in saying what kind of a building or under what conditions the business may be carried on but it is denied that he has power to say that a certain company may do business and another one shall be denied the same privilege.

But in the last instance, as against the liquor interests and the argument in the appeals court will be followed with keen interest. This court commences its fall sittings next week, and it is anticipated that the Chauvin case will be set down for Tuesday or Wednesday.

According to the evidence taken at the hearing before the trial magistrate, the Chauvin firm obtained a warehouse, made application for registration with the attorney general's department and then commenced to ship liquor in, storing it in the warehouse. The expectation that the application to the department would be immediately granted, apparently left short of realization for almost immediately the police descended on the place, locked up the doors and took the keys away.

New Ensilage Aids Milk Production

The sunflower has arrived. The day has passed when the big golden plant served no other purpose than to ornament thousands of backyards throughout the length and breadth of the land. In the language of the botanist the sunflower is known as a plant of the genus Helianthus, but in the language of the Alberta farmers it is known as a plant which will produce a silage second to none. Visions of fat sleek dairy herds with yields of butter and milk of surpassing magnitude are opening up to dairy farmers in the province, thanks to the introduction of the formerly despised sunflower, which now numbers its boosters by the score.

While the planting of the sunflower in this section of the province is still in its initial stages, it is anything but

Experiment this summer by the Field Husbandry Department of the University of Alberta proved beyond a doubt that sunflowers will yield 12,000 lbs. of dry matter per acre as compared with five and six thousand pounds of corn and peas per acre. One acre of sunflowers will winter five or six dairy cattle as compared with the yield of two or three acres in hay or light oats to keep one cow in food for one winter.

It is very interesting to note the advance in growth of the sunflower over the corn. For sake of record sunflowers and corn were planted side by side on the same date and there is twice the tonnage of the sunflowers as of the corn. There is also the additional advantage that the sunflowers stand more frost both at the beginning of the growth and at the latter part. On June 13th this year, there was a frost that cut the corn down to the ground, while the sunflowers were untouched. The same thing applies now for the last week; there was frost that nipped the tops of the corn on the low part of the field, and again the sunflowers alongside were unharmed. It may be stated, however, that corn on a higher part of the farm is still green and quite untouched by the frost.

The experiments further prove that sunflowers may be planted two weeks earlier than the corn, that is, they will germinate and grow at a much lower temperature.

Their first sunflowers were planted May 14th at the University, and every seven days or so from that on, were planted again, with corn always on the same date.

Further experiments are being carried on as the value of close planting, or in hills, and of the value of thinning out the plants. With the close planting, the sunflower naturally does not develop the big coarse stalks and is lacking considerably in the tonnage, but it will be taken into consideration this winter, as to whether the smaller plant makes the more succulent feed, and is more attractive to the stock.

A KING WHO GOES A-RIDING ON HIS TWO WHEELED STEED

Now-a-days as in the days of old when kings go-a-riding, they call either for their aeroplane, their motor car or their carriage of state. Very few Kings ever think of generating their own locomotive power. But

In this picture we have an exception to the rule. The King of Sweden, the tallest ruler in the world, when he goes on short trips, gets out his old bicycle and generating his own power goes a-riding round the country side.

A Dreadful Situation

In all the Chaos and upheaval which occurred in Bolshevik Russia, there is nothing more abhorrent to civilised ideals than the plan of nationalisation of women.

In certain districts of Russia it was decided that women and girls be sacrificed for the purpose of producing Soviet citizens. Exact details of the plan for the nationalization of Russian women are not available. It seems to have varied in a number of instances; but one thing is clear, and that is, that women were selected—to put it bluntly and plainly—for the purpose of the propagation of their species, as if they had been domestic animals. Inclination of free will was not supposed to enter into the matter at all. Temporary marriages were arranged by members of a committee. Young women were mated to elderly men; and lads only in their 'teen were indicated as husbands for women of middle age. Ladies of high rank and gentle nurture were thrown into the arms of degraded peasants, and domestic life was utterly destroyed.

Of course such a condition gave rise to some dreadful incidents. Bolshevik soldiers used their influence with their superiors to obtain for themselves, the women upon whom they cast their lustful and covetous eyes.

An authentic story is told of how one clever Russian girl outwitted the Bolshevik committee. She was a school teacher in Moscow, was well educated, young and attractive. She came to the notice of the nationalisation committee, who decided that she was wasting her time by not being a mother. They accordingly called upon her and told her that a husband had been found for her whom she was at once to marry. She was in despair; there seemed to be no escape. At last however, a bright idea occurred to her. She went to a friend who was a member of the Swiss Legation and asked him to marry her and take her out of Russia. The young man consented; a priest was secured and the ceremony performed. Immediately upon becoming the wife of the Swiss she was made of his nationality and was no longer a subject of Soviet Russia. The Soviet government did not wish complications with a foreign government and the girl was accordingly allowed to leave the country with her temporary husband. Immediately upon reaching Switzerland she made an application for a divorce which the young Swiss did not oppose and on telling her story to the court she was at once freed.

It is almost incredible that such a state of affairs prevail in modern times; but they are only too true.

AN UNPACKING

A small girl was looking on, with her father and mother, at a funeral on the other side of the street.

"What is that?" asked the child. "A funeral," answered her mother. "What is a funeral?" was the next question.

"What," replied the mother, "that is Mr. Brown's funeral. He is going on a long journey."

"Where to?" asked little

"He is going to God," replied her mother. "God has sent for him."

"And is he in that box?"

"Yes," replied her mother.

Later on when little's bedtime arrived, her mother said, "Come along. It is time to say your prayers."

"I don't think I shall say any this evening," replied the child.

"Why not," asked her mother.

"Well, you see, I think God must be rather busy tonight. He has got to unpack Mr. Brown."

The distillers of Scotland have made a definite move to produce power alcohol, and it is anticipated that 30,000,000 gallons from home production should be possible within a reasonable period from the laying down of new distilleries.

There seems somehow to be an impression abroad that in this fight for Prohibition, the men voters are in effect saying that now since the women have the vote, it is up to the ladies to take care of the question. There seems to be a feeling also that it is bound to pass, seeing that the women are for it, therefore there's no need of being over-anxious over the issue, and, anyway it is a question that more directly concerns a woman, being an enemy to the home life. They'll vote right when the day comes, but meantime, let the women folk do the propaganda might be justified if the liquor interests more equally supine, but seeing that they are trying every vile from posing as angels of light down to being the best friend of the working man, we have got to make an united effort if we mean to match their forces successfully against theirs. And we shouldn't be too sure that women "en masse" intend voting against the traffic. Incredible as it may seem, in view of the havoc it has caused in all ages—there are still some women, too selfish, too sheltered or too indifferent to take the trouble to vote on anything that hasn't cast its baleful influence on their lives. While again there's no denying there are women who will even favor a continuation of the traffic, and such, of a surety will take the trouble to use their vote to that effect. We have got to be very careful then in this question we do not suffer the same humiliating results from over-sanguinity as our old friend the hare did.

In the past the name of crank, bigot, faddist etc. have been attached to those who favored a "dry" state of affairs, but today the title has shifted to other side. For in the ranks of the Prohibitionists are our best business heads, our leading literary lights, our most broad-minded clergy men and the finest of our woman-kind. And they have joined the ranks, because they have become convinced that drink is ruinous to men and women body and soul, socially and industrially, and that the loss of it would be great gain to the country (not even excepting the revenue)—and they have figures to back them up.

No, The cranks and faddists these days are those who prefer what they call their personal liberty, i.e. the right to take it or leave it—to helping clear the country of what has been proved to be its greatest curse. But to insist upon a due respect being paid to one's personal liberty when it so obviously means shackling chains for others less fortunate, looks like the conscience if the Liberty lover was out of gear and was trying to be adjusted to the Golden Rule. Don't you think so?

Besides, to change the simile, when there is a wild beast loose in our midst, isn't it rather foolish to boast about such a thing as personal liberty? Who knows but that our sons and daughters may be the first of its victims, on account of our predilection for the "Liberty" stuff?

And just because it is a question of health and home don't let us have it all to the women.

Preserving the sanctity and happiness of the home is as much the man's job as the woman's. They are partners with equal responsibilities and if one partner gets a notion that he or she is to be the sleeping partner, the best results cannot be expected. We do not believe in either sex trying to shoulder a question of this sort alone. The best results have ever been obtained by co-operation between men and women, and so it will ever be despite the rantings of the suffragettes. But if we would be true to the best that is in us despite our personal feelings, we will be broad-minded enough to vote for what stands for being the greatest good to the greatest number, the wives and mothers of Alberta, and her rising generation—even if by so doing we rob a few parties of their former "kick," and take the spurious brilliancy out of the average after dinner oration.

Let us to our own conscience be true.

Says Wheat Board Would Have Saved Added Freight Rate

If the wheat board had continued for another year the whole of the increased burden of freight rates on wheat from the western provinces to Fort William would have been offset by the economical marketing of the wheat crop. Such was the opinion of H. W. Wood, president of the U.F.A.

President Wood's estimate is based on the official estimates published by the bureau of statistics at Ottawa recently, of a total yield of 258,000,000 bushels in the three prairie provinces. The average increase in the cost of the haul from the western provinces to Fort William is estimated to be about five and a half cents.

President Wood estimated the loss on wheat, due to the higher rates, at more than $14,000,000 from the haul from the prairie provinces to Fort William alone.

Canada's Wheat Yield Placed At New High Level

The latest official estimate of the bureau of statistics regarding this year's crop places Canada's total yield of wheat at 239,000,000 bushels as compared with 193,000,000 last year.

The estimate of oats places the yield at 556,000,000 an increase of 180,000,000; barley at 64,000,000, and an increase of 8,000,000; and flax at 11,000,000.

Manitoba's yield of wheat is estimated at 40,305,000 bushels; Saskatchewan, 138,850,000 and Alberta 82,072,000.

The Manitoba yield is a decline of about half a million bushels, but Saskatchewan and Alberta and the east are up about 10,000,000. Oats in Saskatchewan are placed at 173,000,000 bushels; Manitoba, 61,323,000 and Alberta, 12,958,000 bushels.

Farmers Of West Lose Twenty Million Dollars

Staggering Blow Struck at Agricultural Interests Of The Far West Stock And Grain Men Will Be Heavy Losers

The total financial returns of the farmer of western Canada from the sale of the 1920 wheat crop will be reduced by approximately $20,000,000 as a result of the increase of 35 per cent in freight rates granted by the railway commission to the railways of Canada while many millions of dollars less will be received for the harvest of oats and other grains shipped from the west. Both the increased rates on grain and those in live stock will be borne entirely by the producers. The farmers are compelled to sell their products at the prices determined by the world conditions and cannot add the freight to the cost of their grain and cattle. The grain dealers, it is true, will pay the increase in freight on stock which they now have in hand, but in respect to all future purchases the freight will inevitably be paid by the farmers.

The total freight charges on wheat shipped from points in the prairie provinces including local freight and the long haul average from 22 to 23 cents per bushel. The increase of 35 per cent granted by the railway commission means an additional 7.7 cents. If this average charge. The wheat harvest of the west according to present estimates, will be approximately 250,000,000 bushels. An increase of 7.7 cents a bushel in the freight charges on 250,000,000 bushels will cost $19,250,000 in increased freight about $20,000,000 to the railways of Canada, all of which will come out of the pockets of the farmers.

As it is not possible to give an estimate of the volume of oats, barley, flax and rye and farm products generally which will be shipped out of the prairie provinces, the loss to the farmers on these commodities cannot readily be stated. A great proportion of these products will be consumed locally but there are also heavy shipments by rail, and on these the farmers of the three prairie provinces will be meted out an additional millions of dollars. Freight charges between Alberta points and Fort William, formerly 18 cents now are 25 cents; on oats the rate increases from 16-1/2 to 14-1/4 cents, on barley from 15 to 20 cents; on rye from 17-1/2 to 23-1/2 cents.

In addition, the higher rates will practically close the Chicago market to Alberta cattle, and deliver a staggering blow to the great live stock industry of the province. On the Chicago market even today it is only possible to make a profit on the sale of certain grades of livestock. With the heavy increase in rates in effect even these grades will be at all intents and purposes shut out of the Chicago market and the western Canadian packers will get most of the stock.

The western livestock industry will be hampered but this is because in the case of livestock the railways accept one thing and deliver another. That is to say, owing to the shrinkage in transit and the inevitable loss of from two to three grades in quality the shipped stock is less valuable at the end of a journey by rail than when it was shipped. No other class of freight suffers such shrinkage, or such a loss in grades.

On the other hand, the higher rates on livestock cannot benefit the railways at all. The increase in the volume of shipments of livestock of every sort shipped from the prairie provinces and the industry will be such as to offset altogether the possibility of increased revenues to the railways. The companies get increased rates, but there will be greatly reduced business. They will gain nothing, but the province will suffer a tremendous loss.

Another aspect of the question is the tremendous rate which must be paid in proportion to the quantity of livestock moved. No provision is made for less than carloads. The

ADMIRAL HUSE SENT TO DANZIG WITH AUTHORITY TO DIVERT BATTLECRAF FROM BLACK SEA

Admiral Huse commanding all American naval forces in European waters, received instructions to proceed from London to Danzig. He will sail on the armored cruiser Pittsburgh and will report at once on the necessity for further American naval forces.

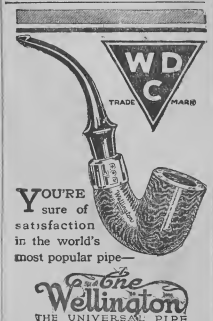

At that port. The admiral has been given authority to divert the cruiser St. Louis and six destroyers about to start for the Black Sea to Danzig. He is also authorized to summon any additional ships now in Europe, the crisis in Europe may require.

same charge must be met on a shipment of 25 hogs as on 85, and on 25 sheep as 110. By discouraging livestock growing, the railways will decrease the number of carloads when the producers can buy, and thus still further increase the cost of shipment. When cattle are scarce, for instance, only 12 head may be shipped whereas formerly there was a carload, but the same expense must be charged against the smaller shipment. The railways assume that every farmer is a carload farmer, whereas 90 per cent of them are not carload farmers.

The government has, in the past given reduced rates to encourage the development of the livestock industry, which has been carried on under severe handicaps. It is illogical and enormous new burden in freight rates should now be able to impose an absurd that the railway commission which must much more than offset anything that has been done in the past to encourage this important industry."

If some married men had a dollar for every time they have kissed their wives in the last year, they would not have three cents.

Powerful Weapon At Service Of Local Merchants

Local Paper Is Keenest Rival To Mail Order Catalog In The Rural Home

Merchants all over western Canada have been fighting at tremendous odds and have rarely been the winners in the iron game of competition. The mail order house in the big city is a competitor whom it has seemed hopeless to combat. The customer with the mail order catalog in hand has been a stubborn customer to handle.

The country dealer has a weapon which will offset the efforts of the catalog vendor—a weapon that has been overlooked by three-quarters of the country merchants; a weapon apparently discounted without consideration; a weapon that has been a bug-bear to mail order houses when it has been properly yielded, and a weapon accessible to practically every store-keeper in the country.

That weapon is the weekly paper in your home town. Through the weekly paper the merchant is enabled to reflect, picture and describe his stock to the community and beat the mail order houses at their own game—publicity. It has been found that the merchant cannot only hold his own in the fight, but that he can beat the order house, owing to the tremendous advantage he has of being personally on the field, with his goods on display.

Without the aid of the local weekly paper this tremendous advantage is discounted by the mail order catalog and the alleged superiority of its goods, together with their cheapness. Therefore this psychology the local dealer must fight back with one of his own, and the weekly paper, plus his presence in the field, discounts the discount and has accomplished what would naturally be the case were the mail order psychology removed.

Therefore, let not the merchant who is suffering from mail order competition despair. Let him try out the weekly paper; let him attract his lo-town paper, (the editor of which staunchly refuses advertising from mail order houses) Hundreds have done it—are doing it today.

The Other Side Of The Question

Should Local Paper Champion
Local Interests At Its Own Loss

During the past year the Chauvin Chronicle has refused to entertain a number of contracts for advertising from mail order houses. This has been done at a distinct cost to the proprietor of the paper and solely for the protection of the local merchant. This, mind you in face of the fact that one general merchant in Chauvin does not regard it good business to solicit our readers business through these advertising columns; and further the general merchants at Ardenley and one at Tibbets are equally indifferent to our reader's attention, or to the necessity of competing in publicity with the mail order literature.

It is, of course, to be admitted that every man who engages in business is fully entitled to judge for himself if it pays or not to advertise. He must run his business at a profit to himself or quit. But we maintain with an equal emphasis, that the newspaper proprietor must do the same, he too must have profit. To refuse a legitimate profitable business for the sake of those who do not in any manner reciprocate is not "business" nor can it correctly be termed "philanthropy"—it is purely "bad business," based on false sentiment.

We mention this matter, not with a view to attack those who do not advertise with us for we have no doubt that they have reasons for such. We refer to it solely because we have run this paper in the past two years entirely without profit to ourselves and with a conscientious regard to the welfare of local trade.

It has always been the practice of the editors and proprietors of the local papers to refuse outside mail order advertising from a sense of loyalty to his district and secondarily from a fear of the home merchant. But it quite open to argument whether such attitudes are justified. Should not the newspaper man take all legitimate business that is offered to him? The answer is: "Yes"

It is futile for the local paper to stand for the development of local interests to the advantage of those who fail to support their local paper. It is ridiculous to refuse good income on one-sided and false sentiment. It is folly to run a business at a loss when a legitimate income is in sight.

We leave it to the judgement of the public. Survey our columns for yourselves, ascertain which of our merchants have that broad-minded business acumen which leads them to solicit your business through the columns of the local press. You will find them to be the men who are doing their utmost to meet all competition, to give at all times and to all a square deal; you will also find them to be the men who take an intelligent interest and active part in all matters concerning public welfare. They have in fact a viewpoint wider than the amount of profit they derive from their business.

Wouldn't it be fine if a man could stop an argument with his wife as easily as he can start it?

Some men who are too weak to do an hour's work, are strong enough to throw the bull all day.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who used to see sea-serpents?

Why is that a man who can't lick his 30-pound wife can lick some other woman's 150-pound husband?

Away down in his heart every man man believes that he would be famous too, if he wasn't kept so busy making a living.

What has become of the old-fashioned man whose latch key used to get so thick after midnight that it wouldn't go in, the key-hole?

A woman can retain her good nature when she is putting on a 40-inch corset on a 48-inch bust. But a man would cause like a blue streak if he tried to put a size 16 collar on a size 17 neck.

BUILD THAT GRANARY NOW

Granaries are money makers for farmers.

The farmer who provides himself with ample grain storage facilities need not dump his grain on a weak market. If properly stored, grain does not deteriorate. The well built granary will last for years, and will save enough the first year to pay for building it.

THE HARVEST OF THE JUSTIFIED

Therefore being justified by faith, let us have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have had our access by faith into this grace wherein we stand and let us rejoice in hope of the glory of God. Rom. 5:1-2.

The text mentions two things which follow justification. These are peace and glory. Peace is the immediate result of justification; glory to be realized in the future. Both are to be made sure by the constant exercise of faith.

Paul argues from experience. He had been living the life of the law, had been trying to win favor with God by doing things, and had failed. He saw the whole nation in the same plight. But he got another point of view when the light shone upon him on the road. He understood that he was simply to accept the grace and pity of God, and not strive to work out his own salvation.

The word justify means to count as righteous, to regard as righteous. It means a legal and not a moral righteousness.

Justification comes by faith. Paul says that the faith of Abraham was therefore he was justified by faith, therefore he was justified by faith. So Paul overthrows the Jewish doctrine of salvation by works or merit. His teaching is that men receive the benefits of Christ's saving work as they trust in Him. Faith then is necessary for salvation.

The immediate result of justification is peace with God. The N.T.V. has, "Let us have peace with God," making an exhortation instead of a statement. The exhortation is not to attain peace, but to keep it. The declaration "not guilty" which the sinner comes under when he embraces Christianity at once does away with the hostility of the sinner and substitutes for it a state of peace. Peace with God is reconciliation between God and the sinner, and the two become friends. The legal barrier is taken away. It also means the sinner's heart is softened, and his affections are changed. He hates that which he once loved, and loves that which he once hated. The joy of his heart is to do God's will.

The other result that follows justification is glory. This is the future so the Christian has hope of this to cheer and buoy him up. He will have a partial realization of the glory of God in this life, but a full realization in the world to come. The hope he has here will cause him to rejoice. The Christian life then is not dull and cheerless but a life of rejoicing. There let us rejoice in hope of the glory of God.
